Major General Pershing of the U. S Army Reaches British Isles in Safety-57 Officers and 50 Pri-

London, June 8-Headed by Major General John J. Pershing, the firs representatives of the American army that are to enter the European war, disembarked this morning at a British port after an uneventful voyage of ten days on board the White Star Liner Baltic.

The party was received with full military honors and immediately entrained for London, where it arrived this afternoon, and was welcomed by the Earl of Derby, the minister of war, Viscount French, commander of the British home forces, and the American officials.

General Pershing's personal staff and the members of the general staff who will perform the preliminary work for the first fighting force, number fifty-seven officers and are accompanied by a squad of some fifty privates, and a large civilian clerical

The American residents of London and various British organizations have prepared an extensive program of entertainment for the American party, but it is doubtful if much of it will be carried out, as General Pershing, before being informed of the plans, expressed a desire that there be a minimum of anything in the nature of a social character. The entire contingent devoted itself to the hardest kind of work of an organizing nature and the whole atmosphere of the mission is that of men embarking on a grave enterprise with the deepest realization of its difficulties and demands.

PREPARE NOW FOR NEXT YEAR'S FOOD SUPPLY

A crucial time in the world's food supply will be next year and the year after next. All that we are doing today looking toward increased food conservation is merely a preparation for what must be done for next year's crop and for the year to follow, and perchance for years after that. The thought of the whole nation should be centered upon plans for making certain a larger food prduction bowels failed to act. He would turn up next year than it will be possible to get this year. We started too late this year to accomplish the largest results, but we must begin now to prepare for the years to come.

Congress should immediately take some action that would establish a minimum price for staple food supplies in order that farmers might be justified in purchasing the agricultural implements and the fertilizers and engaging the labor necessary to increasing the acreage under cultivation. Action should also be taken that would was in such misery, but he got relief and secure an ample supply of seed wheat so that an arrangement might be put into effect by which we could this fall add at least 50 per cent. to the wheat-growing acreage of the country. Unless we can increase the winter-wheat area by 25 to 50 per cent, we shall fall very short of the needs of the hour in our own country and in the world. We must consider these questions from the standpoint of a possibility of bad weather cutting short the yield of all crops, and, therefore, we must look to the enlargement of acreage, to the selection of the best seed that can be obtained of all grain and other food supplies, and cotton as well, and we must make sure that an available supply of seed will be obtained, for otherwise the high prices of grain might tempt the farmers to sell off their entire crop, as they are, to some extent, doing with their livestock in selling off much of their breeding stock which should be kept, tempted by the high prices for meat and at the same time moved thereto by the high cost of feed.

The business people of the country have been earnest and vigorous in trying to arouse a broad interest in the enlargement of our food crops this year, but the time was limited and the work was undertaken too late, and we must now begin a campaign with still greater vigor, looking to the enlargement of the land under cultivation in food crops for next year, and not a moment should be lost in beginning this campaign. It behooves the Government to take the Mt. Olivet Sunday School Sunday, more experienced men. lead in this, and Congress should promptly guarantee a minimum June 24. price on the great food staples, and this price should be high enough to justify the farmers in undertaking to raise more food supplies by even with the high prices of labor, of fertilizers and of all other through this village at 2 a. m. Wednesthings which add to the burden and the cost of farmers' work. We do not believe it at all wise that for the moment consideration from sleep and various suspicions should be given to fixing a maximum price. The question is to fix a minimum price high enough to make certain that the farmers can draw back into farm work a sufficient amount of labor to justify an escaped prisoner from the State them in increasing their acreage and in planning for larger opera- School of Reform was captured near A. ## NATIONAL DAY-LIGHT-SAVING

"Daylight-saving," recently a sort of municipal fad, is now being taken seriously and advocated on a big scale. It has attained the dignity of approval by the United States senate committee on to learn its history and to give deinterstate commerce. The president is understood to have given his approval to the calder bill, on which the committee acted, and which proposes to make daylight-saving effective throughout the entire country. It is expected to become a law .

The device is inteded to apply only to the four sunniest months The clocks would all be turned ahead one hour on the last Sunday of April and turned back again on the first Sunday in September. The measure recognizes, for purposes of time adjustment, the four standard time zones already established by the railroads and recog-

This change used to be recommended primarily as a health measure, enabling people to get through their working day earlier and thus have an hour more for outdoor recreation before dark. Now taking wings at a government aerial the emphasis is being placed on its economic aspect. It is regarded training field on Long Island and on is a war measure, after the example of several European belligerents. It involves a substantial saving in the use of coal, because it means that people will go to bed an hour earlier, and thus use less gas and electricity in their homes, and make less demand on trolley lines and places of public entertainment at night.

OFFER SERVICES PERSISTENTLY, DECLARES COLONEL ROOSEVELT

New York, June 7-Being passed over by the selective draft does not absolve a man from the duty of persistently offering his services to his country in whatever way they can best be used, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt declared tonight before the American Medical Association convention here. Failure to do so means unfit ness to be a citizen, he said.

He urged all doctors to volunteer for medical service, or if they could not go in person to co-operate in doing the younger men's work for them so they could go.

Under another name, Miss Davis is a recognized authority on the preservation of foods, her work in this connection having won for her an invitation to address the Women's Vocational Con-

Persons interested in the course are requested to file or clip their Ledgers as owing to the limited space available no matter can be repeated, though Miss Davis will answer by mail any inquiry accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope and sheet of paper.

Persons are requested not to address inquiries concerning cold-pack canning with home equipment to Miss Davis, she does not teach or advise it. It is laborious, wasteful of fuel, and, owing to the possibility of explotion, dangerous. Those using the regulation canner should follow to the letter the instructions sent with the apparatus: no other is needed.

This department may not be able to give you the information asked for by the Knights of Pythias last evening the editor recently, on a hundred ways the members of that lodge voted unanito cook tincans; but it will tell you of a hundred good things to put away in them, and will even tell you how to the years dues and the sick and death preserve the can bright and shiny for benefits of all members of the lodge next year's use.

We want every woman, no matter if she does not find herself in need of splendid move on the part of the it herself, to take an interest in our new department.
